

Jacob

DOB 4/24/00

Jacob is an outgoing, friendly young man. He enjoys playing video games, watching movies and listening to music. Jacob likes being on the computer and is hoping to study computer science in college or technical school. He is hoping to start working part time this summer.

Jacob is intelligent, but struggles with staying on task at school. He attends therapy to help him deal with being separated from his birth family.

Jacob needs a loving, supportive adoptive family that will provide unconditional love. He would do best in a consistent and structured environment, and he is close to his brother so he would benefit from continued contact with him.
