NO WRONG DOOR POLICY

Due to the complexity of social services systems, many people are unable to navigate through these systems and may feel rejected or frustrated in their efforts to obtain help. This can become discouraging, causing them to simply drop out of the system without receiving the necessary assistance.

No Wrong Door refers to a service system that welcomes people in need and assists them in connecting with desired services regardless of the agency where they are trying to gain access. "No Wrong Door" policies commit all service agencies to respond to the individual's stated and assessed needs through either direct services or linkage to other appropriate programs. This is an alternative to only addressing the needs within the scope of a specific agency by helping consumers connect to other needed services.

This information is also available on the Office of Family and Children First Website:
