

Meet Brandon

born in 2005

Brandon is a 16-year-old sophomore in high school. When not in school, he enjoys sports, swimming, playing video games and reading - his favorite topic to read about is history. In fact, Brandon wants to be a history teacher when he grows up! Polite, friendly, and very social, Brandon is the definition of an extrovert.

We're looking for a family that understands the importance of forming strong connections and maintaining healthy relationships to help Brandon reach his full potential; a home with older children would be perfect. Brandon is an intelligent young man - he just needs a family that can help him move forward in his life, help him reach his goals, and be a consistent and steady presence.
