The Recorder's Route

Student Advocacy

There are many who talk about “doing it for the kids,” but Recorder McClain takes it literally. Last month he dedicated his time to support the Read Across America program. This program was implemented by the National Education Association to ultimately help create fun, exciting learning experiences around children. The kids were very excited as Recorder McClain was able to read and interact with them!

Later in the month, McClain also was a guest speaker at Bell Haven Elementary School for the Boys 2 Men mentoring program. The young men were engaged in thought provoking questions and experiences as Recorder McClain discussed topics on careers and overcoming obstacles.

Wrapping up the month of March, Recorder McClain attended the Trotwood City Schools School Board meeting. He had the honor to talk to the School Board members and parents about the services the Recorder's Office provides and how it can directly affect children in the Montgomery County. Thank you Trotwood School Board for allowing our Recorder this opportunity.

Check out the Dayton Public Schools Facebook page to watch the positive message Recorder McClain and Dayton Public Schools Superintendent, Elizabeth J. Lolli put together to encourage our children for Ohio State Testing!

Neighborhood Involvement

Walnut Hills Neighborhood Association President Mike Schommer reached out to the Recorder's Office to speak and participate in their Chili Cookoff that took place at Cleveland Elementary School last month. What a great time we had sharing information on the Fraud Alert Notification System. We appreciate the hospitality and delicious chili!

Gwen Buchanan, President of the Carrilon Civic Council invited Recorder McClain as a guest speaker for his office alongside a representative from Citywide Development Corporation and the City of Dayton. This was a productive meeting between community, government, and non profits to share ways in which everyone is helping strengthen the community.

A Broader Message

Recorder McClain was featured as a guest on WDAO Radio talking about his Veteran Identification Card Program and the Fraud Alert Notification System (FAN System) last month. He encouraged listeners to spread the word to help our fellow neighbors!
