

Tara

Year of Birth 2004

Tara is a caring, sweet, intelligent and kind young lady who enjoys telling jokes, coloring, the outdoors and watching tv shows and movies. She loves to spend time on a horse farm, where she can feel the peace and quiet of being around those beautiful horses and enjoy a very calming environment.

Tara values her education, family and friends. She does well in school and enjoys all sports, especially basketball. She has adjusted well to her current placement, but Tara longs for a home that will provide permanency for her. She thrives in an environment with structure, routine, clear rules, chores and responsibilities and with reasonable expectations.

Tara needs a family who will remind her of how beautiful, loving, caring and talented she is. She also needs a family that is calm and patient and with good listeners who value open communications and prioritize one-on-one time with each other. She would be a wonderful addition to a two-parent family who loves the outdoors and would guide her to adulthood with love and care.
