

LexisNexis Self-Study CLE Credits Available Through the Law Library

The Ohio Supreme Court has adopted continuing legal education (CLE) changes that double the number of online credit hours that attorneys may earn. Under the rule changes effective January 1, 2014, the self-study credit hours an attorney may earn each biennial period has increased from 6 to 12 hours.

LexisNexis has offered to sell to the Montgomery County Law Library a block of passwords for access to their online self-study CLE programs. The Law Library has purchased a very limited number of these passwords in order to offer to our subscribers the option of viewing, at no charge, any of the programs available on the LexisNexis website. The programs can be downloaded to any personal computer or device for viewing. The password holder must register with LexisNexis and enter personal information that will be submitted to the Ohio Supreme Court for CLE credit. Directions for getting started are as follows:

1. In order to obtain a password to view one course, contact Susan Worley at the Law Library at 225-4496 or sworley@daylawlib.org.
2. Go to <http://lexiscle.smartpros.com>
3. On the left, in the Returning Subscriber box, there is a field for "Library Card." The user will enter the password obtained from the Montgomery County Law Library and then click "login."
4. Then the user will be prompted to set up "My Profile," including security questions which are required to obtain course certificates.
5. Once the profile is submitted, the user will be able to browse the course options and select one of their choosing.
6. The password received from the Law Library would again be entered on the screen when a form of payment is requested.

A limited number of passwords (10) has been purchased as a trial service to analyze interest; however, additional passwords will be purchased as needed.

LexisNexis Training at the Law Library for CLE Credit

On Wednesday, July 30, 2014, training on search techniques for LexisNexis research will be available in the media center of the Law Library. From 9:30 A.M. – 10:30 A.M. a review of basic search techniques will be held. From 11:00 – noon, a review of advanced search techniques will be offered. Each session has been approved for 1 hour of CLE credit by the Supreme Court of Ohio. You must be a registered Law Library subscriber or government attorney to sign up for one of these sessions.

To register, please contact Susan Worley at the Law Library at 225-4496, or via email at sworley@daylawlib.org. Space is limited in the media center to a maximum of 14 at each session.

Remote Legal Research Options for Subscribers

As a subscriber to the Montgomery County Law Library, or a registered government user, there are three valuable legal research products available to you from the Law Library's web page. The web page is located at http://www.mcoho.org/government/law_library/index.html or, from the county's front page at <http://www.mcoho.org>, click on Government; scroll to County Agencies; click on Law Library.

On the left side of the screen click on Subscriber Log-In. Enter the username and password as indicated on the card that was mailed to you by the Law Library.

You will then have remote access to three online products. They are:

HeinOnline – full text of over 2,000 law review and legal periodical articles in an image-based format which may be retrieved by citation or keyword

LegalTrac – a searchable index to more than 1,500 major law review, legal periodical, and legal newspaper titles

LoisLaw – full text access to federal statutes, cases, and regulations as well as those of all 50 states. In addition, there are numerous, well-known treatises in 28 subject areas available for searching and full-text retrieval, such as Wigmore on Evidence. Click on a title in a specific subject area and then click "Continue."
